Call for Applications

The University Freiburg offers the coaching program CORA under the auspices of the Department for Equality, Diversity and Academic Personnel Development for ten female researchers at the end of the doctoral process who have submitted their thesis, female postdocs, assistant professors, and group leaders from all faculties.

A requirement for participation is the intention of qualifying for a responsible position in academia.

The coaching program CORA foresees individual coaching as well as exclusive trainings, motivation via regular meetings of the peer group, and the building-up of a network of women researchers.
